Plant Officials Seek Cause

None Hurt In Explosions At Koppers In Follansbee

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. (AP) — Two huge chemical tanks blew up and turned into flaming torches at the Koppers Co. plant here Friday night.

The explosions and searing heat twisted connecting pipes and valves into grotesque shapes within 50-yards of the tanks.

Nobody was hurt. Koppers officials were trying to learn what touched off the explosions. No damage estimate was available.

The 60,000-gallon tanks were used to store coal tar chemicals. The one which exploded first was nearly empty and the other almost full.

A half-dozen nearby tanks caught fire on the outside, but their contents did not ignite. No buildings were burned.

The chemicals burned fiercely and shrouded a widespread area with acrid, black smoke.

Operations had to be halted and a company spokesman said it was expected that at least four days would be required before the plant could start up again.

Fire-fighters brought the blazes under control in about two hours.

Two firemen were overcome by the dense smoke.

During the height of the fire, all roads at the plant site were closed to public traffic. Ambulances, fire trucks and police vehicles from at least 25 communities sped to the scene.

The plant is located on Route 2 just north of Follansbee along the Ohio River. Residents of Follansbee, two miles distant, heard the blast. Smoke spread over Steubenville and Mingo Junction.

Initially, it was believed five workers may have been caught in the blast area.

The plant processes chemicals derived from coke oven smoke obtained at the nearby plant of RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Senate supporters of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond say they believe they have enough votes to pass today his program to ease the impact of school integration.

A ruling was expected soon — possibly today — from Chief Justice Earl Warren in the Arlington School Board's request for a delay of enrollment of four Negroes in the Stratford Junior High School.

In Norfolk, school officials said "everything is in readiness" for integration Monday of six schools closed last fall.

The Almond program — granting tuition payments to those who don't want to attend integrated schools and repealing compulsory school attendance — already has passed the House of Delegates.

It now is before the Senate Finance Committee, whose membership includes most of the senators who had been seeking stronger action than Almond sought from the special session.

Justice Warren promised Arlington swift action on its request for a delay.

Arlington school officials said plans were complete for enrollment of the Negro children and that no trouble is anticipated should a delay be denied. To make certain no incidents occur, police will block off an area of a half mile surrounding the school Monday morning.

Norfolk police said they had no present plans "to show police force" at the six schools to be jury trial.

Midland Area Driver Jailed

Robert Bryan Also Assessed $300 Fine

A Midland Heights resident was fined and jailed today after pleading guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor while a Wellsville motorist pleaded innocent to a similar charge.

Robert E. Bryan of Midland Heights was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail by Judge George L. Brokaw, but also suspended his right to drive in Ohio for six months.

Judge Brokaw set a hearing at 9 a. m. Monday for Charles S. Smith, 1130 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, who pleaded not guilty.

Police said Bryan was arrested at 2:26 a. m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St. while Smith was picked up at 2:57 a. m. in Center Alley.

Alex Broadbent of Lisbon R. D. 3 was fined $5 and costs by Judge Brokaw for crashing stop sign at W. 6th and Monroe Sts. at 5:55 a. m. today.

Clarice R. Males of Calcutta forfeited a $16 bond Friday on a charge of passing over a yellow line at the crest of a hill. She was cited yesterday morning on Dresden Ave.

Roy A. Pulse of Weirton also forfeited $16 on a similar charge filed by the State Highway Patrol. He was cited last night on Route 30.

Democrats To Ask More For Defense

Testimony Reveals Need To Match Reds On Space, Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic attempt to accelerate defense spending appeared likely today after Senate testimony that more money is needed to match Soviet space and missile advances.

Two days of a wide ranging Senate inquiry into the status of U.S. preparedness touched off speculation that Senate Democrats may try to expand President Eisenhower's defense budget.

Eisenhower is recommending slightly over 40 billion dollars in defense spending for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Both he and Secretary of Defense McElroy contend this is adequate to cope with any Soviet threat.

As the Senate inquiry went into recess until the middle of next week, Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) of the House Space Committee announced hearings paralleling the Senate's will begin Monday.

A possible hint to Democratic plans for defense spending came Friday as Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) recessed the inquiry by the combined Senate Space and Preparedness subcommittees.

Johnson, chairman of both groups, said public testimony so far by top defense, space and missile officials indicate there are deficiencies which must be explored behind closed doors because of military secrets involved.

Johnson said the next phase will cover "information as to the aggressive forces that might be thrown against us."

Referring to what he called the decision by McElroy to slash funds and forces for the various military programs, Johnson said "The key considerations that he took into account could be discussed only behind closed doors."

Roy Johnson, director of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, which handles military missile and space programs, said he could use an additional 300 million dollars above budget estimates.

Fulbright To Head Move

Senate Spurs High-Level Negotiations With Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration apparently is in line for some sharp prodding from the Senate to move toward high level negotiations with Russia on the Berlin impasse.

This was clearly indicated as Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a persistent critic of administration foreign policies, prepared to take over as chairman of the important Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Calling for East-West talks on the German problem, Fulbright said he thinks it would be "quite proper to enter into a discussion of the withdrawal of troops from Berlin."

"Personally, I think it is important to move toward the withdrawal of foreign troops. It would be

Fulbright, 53, who will succeed next week to the chairmanship vacated Friday by Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), made it clear he isn't very optimistic about dealing with the Russians.

But Fulbright said he thinks the Eisenhower administration has been remiss in not coming up with some proposal to counter the Soviet's demand that West Berlin be made a "free city."

Contending the administration apparently has stalled on dead center in dealing with Russia's Berlin demand, Fulbright told a news conference Friday:

"Personally, I think it is important to move toward the withdrawal of foreign troops. It would be a good thing if Russia withdrew its occupation troops from East Germany, Hungary and Romania.

"I am not particularly optimistic about Russia's making any agreements in this field. But it is time we made the Soviets take the responsibility for failing to agree instead of just saying 'no' every time they propose something."

Fulbright emphasized he would not support a withdrawal of U.S. troops unless there was an acceptable agreement on Berlin.

Colleagues said they expect Fulbright, who often has criticized Secretary of State Dulles, to sponsor much stiffer examinations of administration policies than was the rule under Green.

Crash Series Causes Injury To 4 Persons

4 Mishaps Reported With Glenmoor Boy In 2 Briefly Apart

One man was hospitalized and three others were injured in four separate traffic accidents Friday and early today, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol, which reported a Glenmoor youth was involved in two mishaps a few minutes apart.

Paul K. Welch, 509 Aten Ave., said the two removed two $10's three $5's and three $1's from his wallet.

He told Lt. M. A. Winters and Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford that one bandit was about 19, weighed between 140 and 150, was about 5-foot-9, had brown hair and was wearing a brown sports jacket.

The other was 22 or 23, weighed about 160 and was about 5-foot-11. He had dark, wavy hair, was wearing a dark sports jacket and was neat in appearance. Welch told the two officers.

Welch said he picked up the two at Lisbon and W. 8th Sts. about 2 a. m. with the younger man getting into the back seat and his companion climbing into the front seat.

As they headed west on W. 8th St., the older man said, "This is a pickup," and held a short barrel, blue .32-caliber revolver.

It was double trouble for Thornton J. Taylor, 16, of Glenmoor, who was involved in two separate accidents five minutes apart.

Taylor first collided with the car of Edwin Croft, 19, of 819 Fenton St. on Route 30 a tenth of a mile south of Route 7 at 12:20 a. m. today. Taylor was following Croft, who signaled a left turn but then turned right after Taylor started passing him, the patrol said.

Croft, who was arrested for making an improper signal, was driving a car owned by the Milligan Hardware & Supply Co.

A few minutes later, Taylor started home to notify his parents of the mishap. Officers said he was headed west on the Cannons Mills-Glenmoor Rd. when he lost control on a curve, went off the left side of the highway and crashed into a tree, demolishing the 1949 sedan. He was then cited to Juvenile Court officers said.

At 3:15 a. m. today, Carl Howell of Cleveland lost control of his car on a curve at the top of the Fredericktown Hill and crashed into a guardrail.

Howell was thrown from the car and knocked unconscious, officers said. He was x-rayed for possible internal injuries at the hospital.

He was cited for going off the left side of the highway.

Farm Income Scheduled To Take Huge Cut

Benson Cites New Changes To Figure Supports On Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm income may be cut hundreds of millions of dollars over the next few years by new changes in figuring agricultural price supports.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced the changes in a surprise administrative action late Friday.

President Eisenhower had told Congress in a special farm message Thursday that price supports were too costly and were encouraging production of farm surpluses.

The change was expected to have repercussions in the Democratic controlled Congress and in some farmer groups.

Cotton producers were the first affected. Their income from the 1959 crop faced a potential cut of almost 60 million dollars.

Other products which are likely to feel the impact this year include tobacco, peanuts, rice and dairy products.

The development may well influence this year's returns from such other crops as soybeans, cottonseed, flaxseed and dry beans.

The action involved a revision in the department's formula for determining parity prices of farm products, which are price standards declared by law to be fair to farmers in relations to prices charged them.

Under farm law, price supports for most products are based on the parity prices. This new formula had the effect, officials said, of reducing parity prices about 3.1 per cent and the actual price supports for most supported products from about 2.25 to 2.75 per cent.

Within minutes after the change in the method of determining parity was disclosed, the department announced price supports for this year's cotton crop. These supports will average, officials estimated, around $4.50 a bale less than would have been the case had the parity revision not been made. On a 13-million bale crop, this would be close to 60 million dollars.

Wheat will not be affected this year because the support for it already has been announced.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale
A Guide To Problem-Solving

A husband and wife had a grave that if you keep calm and keep praying, being willing to be guided creatively, answers will come."

IT IS MY sincere belief that, whatever your problem, it can be solved — provided you go at it on the basis of the foregoing plan of spiritual action.

My wife and I have worked out six points that we apply in solving problems in our own lives. I would like to pass them on to you in the hope they may be helpful in your own problem solving.

1.—Don't panic. Never tense up in the presence of a problem because if you panic you will not be able to think soundly. And think you must, and rationally too. The first thing to do is to quiet yourself. Put it all in God's hands and relax in faith. Emphasize calm thoughts and you can attain an emotionally controlled state. Then stay relaxed and calm.

2.—Don't act overwhelmed by the problem and don't be dramatic about it. There is always a tendency to exaggerate a situation and this can often lead to an attitude of hopelessness. Cut the situation down to size; don't build it up either in thoughts or words.

3.—Don't waste time with regrets. Don't ask, "Why did I ever get into this?" Just take it from where you are.

4.—Think in terms of solution rather than problem and seek a solution, not for the whole problem, but for the next step. Take it a step at a time. And, as you do, pray continually for guidance in finding the next step.

5.—Always remember to ask yourself this basic question: "What is the right thing to do?" If you always do the right thing, you can't go wrong.

6.—And, lastly, never give up. Keep at it. Keep praying, keep believing, keep thinking until the answer comes. Remember that the darkest hour is often just before the dawn.

God is your best guide to problem-solving. The Bible tells us, "The things which are impossible with men are possible with God."

As the children of God it is possible for us to get so close to Him that His wisdom will penetrate. Then we will be able to deal with problems not with our own insight, which is limited, but with His wisdom, which is infinite.

Ship

The continuing search was being directed from the Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue center in Halifax.

More ships were plowing toward the scene through the rough North Atlantic as U. S. and Canadian search planes took off in hope of getting through bad weather that had kept them grounded Friday.

The Campbell was coming from its North Atlantic navigational patrol station 300 miles to the southwest.

Nine small vessels set out from Greenland in a blizzard to try to help. The Greenland Navy command said three of them were forced by the storm to drop anchor.

Weather conditions were reported to be improving. But in the best of weather at this time of year, a person can survive in those frigid waters for "just over 60 seconds," the Coast Guard said.

The Hedtoft was en route from Godthaab, capital of the ice-capped Danish island of Greenland, to Copenhagen on the return leg of its maiden voyage. The Greenland Department in Copenhagen said she carried 55 passengers and 40 crew members but a radio message from the ship said 90 passengers and 40 crewmen were aboard.

The department said all passengers were Danes or Greenlanders. The Hedtoft was built last year for the Danish government and put into service about a month ago bearing the name of a late premier of Denmark.

River Rd. Re-Opened For 'Cautious' Traffic

The River Rd. was re-opened to auto traffic Friday afternoon for the first time since high water closed the highway a week ago.

Police Chief Americo Radeschi said barricades were removed to permit cars a through truck traffic but he asked drivers to use caution.

The chief warned there still are a couple of bad spots.

A "Slack Hop" is scheduled Friday in the Fairview Grange Hall.

The Executive Board of the Fairview Parent-Teacher Association will meet in the Fairview School Monday night at 8.

Members of the Fairview Grange will exchange sack lunches at their meeting Tuesday night at 8 in the Grange Hall.

Prosecutor Claims Advice Not Sought In Fox Bounty Mixup

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners' recent statements that no fox bounty funds were appropriated because the Board of Commissioners "lacked legal advice" was countered today by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, who said his office was not consulted when the matter came up at the initial meeting of the commissioners.

The prosecutor said in his public statement issued Friday:

"Recent newspaper articles have carried the news item that no appropriation was made at the organization meeting on Jan. 5, by the Columbiana County commissioners, to pay a fox bounty during 1959.

"The articles and the letter of newly elected Commissioner Frank Wilson, which was quoted, would seem to indicate 'legal advice' was sought by the Board on this proposition.

"I stand ready to furnish legal advice and opinions at all times, as required by law, whenever such advice or an opinion is solicited.

First-Rate Standards And High Morale

Ohio's Liquor Chief Sets His Goals

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Development of an elite division with first-rate standards and high morale is his prime goal, says Ivan W. Smith, Ohio's new liquor enforcement chief.

"By raising the standards and morale of the enforcement division, we hope to raise the standards and morale of the entire legitimate liquor industry," Smith said in an interview.

"While our primary purpose is to protect the public's interest, we have the secondary responsibility of protecting the legitimate permit holder against the cheater, the bootlegger, the after-hours violator, the operator who sells to minors."

"They create unfair competition and give the entire industry a bad name."

"What we want, therefore, is to gain the respect and confidence of the law-abiding segment of the industry so it will help us by helping to police itself."

Sees Responsibilities

The quiet, 31-year-old Cantonian said the liquor industry must recognize its own responsibilities if it is to survive in Ohio. He cited the fact, astonishing to the layman, that the state is going dry at a surprisingly rapid rate.

More than 50 per cent of Ohio is now at least partially dry and every election sees more local areas turned dry by voters.

Such local issues reach the ballot, Smith said, only because of public indignation over violations by permit holders. Nearly always, he said, it is a case of a few operators' giving the entire industry a bad name.

His program for improving the division includes civil service examinations, high recruiting standards and thorough character investigations followed up by intensive training.

Since more than half of his present 84 agents are on provisional status, they will be subject to the new examinations and will compete on an equal basis with other applicants.

Hopes For Experts

Out of this program he hopes to build a staff of true experts with traditions and an esprit de corps comparable to those of the State Highway Patrol.

"There is no reason it can't be done," Smith said. "Our division operates under basically the same statutory setup the patrol does."

The young enforcement chief is working on other plans to improve the division's effectiveness.

He already has started lifting the ban on "free lance" operations by his agents, permitting them to drop in and investigate spots on their own rather than waiting for specific complaints.

He hopes to continue, as soon as the press of administrative business permits, his tour around the state, started in Cleveland two weeks ago. He wants to visit an area a week, talking to local law enforcement officials and his own agents and establishing good relations between the local and state agencies.

We Need Local Help

"Because the liquor division's force is small, it is impossible for us to police the entire state," Smith said. "We must rely upon local law officials. We can act as an expert and efficient reinforcement body, moving in to help the local agencies when they need us."

He is studying possible legislation and has prepared a report of his own ideas on the subject for his chief, Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch. Both of them, along with State Sen. Julius J. Petrasch (D-Cleveland), chairman of the Senate liquor committee, have conferred with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who asked for more detailed information on their suggestions.

The legislation now being considered concerns what Mr. Smith admits is one of the two major enforcement headaches at the moment — sale of liquor to minors.

Mail Shows Magnitude

"The routine mail across my desk and the reports I get continuously show the magnitude of this problem," he said.

"Juveniles lack judgment and responsibility even when they are cold sober. To let them drink and completely remove all sense of danger puts them and the community in grave danger. And this is in addition to the damage to their health and morals."

Here again, he said, the aim is to distinguish between the legitimate mate operator who may make an honest error and the illegal operator who deliberately and wilfully violates the law.

The object of the legislation under study is to maintain the same degree of responsibility on the part of the seller, but to make that responsibility easier to define and handle.

Will Gamblers Move?

The other headache of the moment is a suspected move by gamblers to "test" the enforcement division under its new management.

"I'm definitely under the impression from scattered reports," Smith said, "that right now gamblers are getting ready to give us a try. Gambling pinball machines especially are cropping up."

"I want to say that I'm aware they are giving us a try and that we'll move in just as fast and effectively as our resources permit."

He added he is confident his division can handle the situation.

Midland Sets Road Scraping*Water Line Project Totals 2,650 Feet

Railroad Ave., between 10th and 12th Sts., and the road leading to the Treadwell Construction Co. were scheduled to be scraped today, R. E. Steebner, Midland borough engineer, said.

Neither road is paved. Holes were filled Friday on Railroad.

Steebner, also the Municipal Authority resident engineer, said about 2,650 feet of 8-inch water line has been laid, with 1,200 feet to be installed.

Lines have been laid thus far properly and had no outside vent, allowing carbon monoxide fumes to escape into the house, the firm said. No raw gas was involved, officials said.

Fred Santimarino, 48, and his wife, Helen, 47, of 324 10th St., and his sister, Mrs. Anna Danoff of Wausau, Wisc., and Mrs. Danoff's grandson, Johnny Danoff, 20 months, all were admitted to City Hospital. They were released Friday.

No leaks were found in the sides and bottom of the new 500,000-gallon tank in a recent check.

According to Dr. Zavel Sigal, chairman of the authority, Midland's water supply will be boosted to 1½ million gallons when the new tank goes into service, It replaces an old tank.

The 2-million-gallon gain is due to the installation of the Murphy Hill reservoir about a year ago.

American Legion Post 31 is conducting its Block of Dimes drive today on N. Market St. Atty. James Alice is city chairman.

Members of the city Parent-Teacher Organization will conduct the house-to-house solicitation.

The new 8th St. reservoir will not be used until both the inside and outside have been painted, which will begin when weather permits.

Following World War II, returned servicemen began to take active roles in unions, stressing the need for security in the forms of pensions, hospitalization and fringe benefits in addition to wages and hours.

Communist party sympathizers, who had infiltrated the unions before the war and then laid low, began to show themselves, taking possession of several unions and nearly succeeding in taking over the entire union movement, Rice said.

Rice traced the history of unions, pointing out that prior to the act of 1936 labor and management had used that as long as they could continue to steal or take graft. Only rank-and-file members were hurt.

Labor is in favor of any bill regulating the control of pension and welfare funds but also wants to work with the workers to help the workers in Russia and satellite countries.

Rice explained there are lots of fine men in the Teamsters but the have "a lot of bad divisional leaders and the top man is one of the worst."

The unions threw out 1½ million members in 1956-57, he pointed out, but the leaders of the expelled unions didn't object as long as they could continue to steal or take graft. Only rank-and-file members were hurt.

Our Bumper Crop Of Senior Statesmen

Sen. Theodore Francis Green's decision to give up the chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after his hometown newspaper had suggested he was too old to bear the responsibility will be a chance to review the qualifications of some other senior statesmen in Congress.

While it is a certainty they won't like it any better than 91-year-old Sen. Green liked it, or 74-year-old Rep. Joseph Martin liked it when his Republican associates asked him to step down as minority leader, it is possible that the seniority system may be one of the things slowing down the once-dynamic United States.

Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, 76, is in charge of slowing down all proposals odious to his prejudices as a segregationist. He is chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas is ceded by all accounts to be doing a first-rate job at 77, having accumulated much experience and wisdom. But like Rep. Martin, his friend, he would take it unkindly if his seniority were challenged. He intends to stay until he drops.

Another well ripened legislator on the Democratic side is Rep. Brent Spence of Kentucky, 84. The oldest Republicans, both 83, are Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan and Daniel A. Reed of New York.

Heaven Starts At Aisle No. 7

In Nikita Khrushchev's message to the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist party he pointed out that, compared to the U.S. with its housing ills and high medical expenses, Communists live in a "paradise."

He boasted that the Communist countries "stand at the head of all progress."

He promised Russians a better life with no taxes, higher salaries and more and better consumer goods.

Since nifty Nikita is so certain of a paradise future, maybe he would like to test his system against the decadent capitalistic system.

We suggest he drop the bars on ingress and egress along the Iron Curtain and the West do likewise. We would be willing to bet

Separate Court?

A bill to create a separate Court for Hancock County now up for action in the House of Delegates at Charleston faces some rough sledding in the legislative halls, according to reports from the capital.

The measure would give the county its own court instead of sharing the First Circuit Court with Brooke and Ohio counties as at present.

The majority of attorneys in Hancock County favor the bill, since the single bench would expedite cases and would mean savings to county residents in time and money spent at present journeying to Wheeling when the judge is not at New Cumberland. The prestige and independence of having one's own court is also a favorable factor.

Balancing this is the cost of a separate court, with the expense of paying a judge and staff, since the amount of money spent on county justice naturally would rise somewhat.

Hancock County in many ways rates its own court. And if one isn't authorized this year, eventually the courthouse at New Cumberland will have a fulltime judge. Time and the vagaries of politics will tell.

The Once Over.

Businessmen in sort of equal time mood ask that their side get a chance to answer the Ed Murrow program indicating the guys-and-dolls routine at conventions in New York and other big cities. A possible examination of a Composite Convention Type:

Q. Was the Murrow picture true or false?
A. If any such condition exists I must have spent all my convention trips in the middle of the George Washington Bridge in a fog.

Q. Is sin, wholesale or retail, linked with business progress?

A. Any businessman who thought so would be quickly out of prestige, out of influence, out of business and out of his home.

Q. Would you explain further?

A. Yes. Doing business successfully today takes the best, not the worst, from a man. If he thought otherwise he would find that while he was spending time with Jezebel to close one big deal he would lose a dozen bigger deals through general stupidity.

Q. How many conventions have you attended?

A. Hundreds, as man and boy, but none as Bacchus, Don Juan or Bluebeard.

Q. Did you ever observe a Sodom and Gomorrah mood at business gatherings?

A. If there were any Sodom and Gomorrah characters around they must have been auditioning for a radio program.

Q. You don't claim all delegates behave as if dedicated to a dull time?

A. No. But all my experience is that the slippage is slight and limited to two privileges: (1) The right to take one too many cocktails; (2) the privilege of being seen with convention identification badge upside down and falling asleep during the banquet speech calling for wide awake salesmanship.

Q. Will you sum up on what a businessman gets from convention attendance?

A. Gladly. He gets wrist tremors, an eye twitch, corns, an overloaded brief case, flat beer and an excessive bill for rounds of cocktails for people who would buy goods from competitor company anyhow.

GEN. MACARTHUR celebrated his 79th birthday the other night. He is in such fine shape, despite his age, that even mention of Harry Truman doesn't disturb him any more.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

More than two miles below the surface of the earth, these words echoed in a black, jagged tunnel:

"Oh, touch the hem of his garment
And thou too shalt be free;
His saving power this very hour
Shall give new life to thee."

It was one of the hymns that strengthened the 12 men trapped in the recent mine cave-in at Springhill, Canada. They were no longer alone in the dark tunnel. God and His light were with them.

They prayed, as one miner recalled, for "... God to save us and bring us back to our families. Also to keep the rescuers safe in their work of coming to get us." The men's faith gave them the courage and the strength to keep going in the heat and foul air, without water or food until they were rescued a week later.

"The powers of the soul," Emerson reminds us, "are commensurate with its needs."

Ike Would Curb Picketing

By Victor Riesel

For months, right up to a few hours before this was written, President Eisenhower has been telling his Cabinet, his personal aides and his more personal friends that the only way to crack the rackets is to curb the unions' absolute power to picket anywhere, anytime, for any reason.

That he didn't point up strongly that the voters made no mistake in electing him to a first term.

By running again, the mayor has expressed firm confidence in the great majority of people and demonstrated a stick-to-the-job attitude which ultimately can mean only the progress he is endeavoring to provide.

Mr. Lawrence has done his part in an effort to perpetuate his program. Now it is up to the people who put him into office in the first place to do their part again.

While sleeping, a normal healthy adult changes his position about once in seven or eight minutes.

"Bob Turley Gets $10,000 Belt" - headline. In his first series game he got even costlier one.

Makings of a musical and box-office movie are in "Pioneer, Go Home" by Richard Powell. It's the story of a group which rebels against too many do-gooders, ultimately fighting projects to improve their lot.

The man who twice stole an airplane, flew it over crowded New York and landed it in the middle of a street, got six months in jail. Ya mean stealing a plane and inviting a disaster with maiming and killing scores of other folks (not once but twice) rates no more punishment than stealing a park bicycle? The fellow was allowed to plead to the charge of "bringing stolen property into the city" instead of a more serious offense.

Poor Old Uncle Samsy

The United States, where basketball was invented, lost to the Russians, 63-37, in the World Amateur Basketball Championship in Santiago, Chile, with players obtained through an advertisement in an Air Force paper.

With the fourth- and fifth-rate players, the Yanks looked so lousy they were peppered with paper, coins and fruit during the game by Chilean fans.

At a time when world prestige is so important, no avenue should be overlooked, not even a basketball tournament. The Army and Air Force have some of the finest college basketball players in the country, but apparently Washington was too busy to pool this talent.

Ex-GIs are aware of the way top athletes are handled at air bases and army posts. The commanders have fierce pride in their athletic teams. It takes an act of Congress to shake a top star away from a base.

Players seeking a tryout for the U.S. team that went to Santiago had to pass their requests through channels. You could bet no player of fame would be cut loose. The coach of the team said any of the first 10 college teams in the country could have run the Russians off the court.

Poor old Uncle Samsy. He never gets his best foot forward — just his neck!

THE PRESIDENT is aware that he is the middle-of-the-road bill. It is somewhere between the anti-racket proposals of the liberal Sen. John Kennedy and the hardest hitting of all, the coming proposals of racket-busting committee chairmen Sen. McClellan.

But strangely enough Sen. McClellan's bill, when presented later this year after the committee's blistering second annual report in March, will be no tougher than British and Australian laws.

And those exist in lands where the unions are the manpower and the money banks of influential labor parties.

Both in Australia and England, these labor parties have run the government in the not too distant past.

In both lands the unions are required to register with a central government office if they want to enjoy special labor privileges.

In England, the unions register with something known as the Registry of Friendly Societies.

In Australia, where there are Industrial Courts, the unions register — and, as in London, they must then maintain a terrific set of democratic standards.

The law specifically states how long an official can hold office, how frequently a union must meet and when and where and how notice must be given.

SEN. McCLELLAN will ask for a law requiring such registration of U.S. unions and adherence to similar democratic practices—if they don't want to lose their tax exempt status. That is quite a status consideration the billions of dollars worth of investments in real estate, bonds and other nice things have to have and to hold.

On all this the President of the United States has been briefed and now is quite an expert. He knows what he wants and the general is on the march.

In Australia, where there are Iniversity for one term, but Family No. 2 took the bait and sent their kid to Leland Stanford University —for a fact.

Actually, it wasn't such a bad idea in the long run. Family No. 2 profited from the competition, even if it was phony. They did many things they would not have done otherwise. But what hurt was the cruel deception and the agonizing self-pity that ensued whenever Family No. 1 stole another march on them.

If Family No. 2 had used the wits that the Almighty gave a toad, it would have known all along that it was being spoofed, like the time they heard their rivals were going to catch up. The plot thickened.

The first family rented a new car and kept it a week. After the third day, the second family plunged for a new car it couldn't afford.

The first family had a truck delivered a box labeled "Color Television." The second family, when it found out, bought a color television set, not knowing the box delivered to the first family was empty.

The first family said it would go to Hawaii for a vacation, which caused the second family to go to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras, a jaunt it did not particularly enjoy and clearly couldn't afford.

Neither could the first family, which never got closer to Hawaii than an artificial beach near a motel in the adjoining county.

He has used phrases such as "protecting innocent bystanders and the public interest."

He wants picketing defined so that no one who is a stranger to the particular labor-management dispute will be hurt. It is this ability to hurt others with a picket line which must be contained — and without such cramping, Mr. Eisenhower believes there can be no effective anti-rackets bill.

And that was the way it went. The second family always took it for granted that the first family was cute enough to play out the string for all it was worth. This went on for a couple of years. It would have gone on indefinitely if the first family hadn't grown tired of the sport and quit eggin' on the suckers. Before they gave up, they even went through the motions of sending their oldest girl to Vassar.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: They're telling a story around here about a situation that developed between two families that were trying to keep up with each other. Neither family was named Jones, by the way.

But the competition was getting rough for the second family because it had let itself be put on the defensive. Instead of thinking up things to make the first family feel miserable, it was waiting for the first family to make the first move all the time. Then it would try to catch up.

The first family finally figured out that the second family had a conditioned reflex. Whenever it was confronted with something new, it automatically tried to catch up. The plot thickened.

The first family rented a new car and kept it a week. After the third day, the second family plunged for a new car it couldn't afford.

Talmadge Amendment

By David Lawrence

Constitutional Change Sought On Schools

Eight Southern senators have taken a significant step to refute the notion that the South believes in lawless ways. Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, (D - Ga.), has introduced a proposed amendment to the federal Constitution which is intended to give the states exclusive control of their school systems.

David Lawrence

Whether one agrees or disagrees with this proposal as a solution of the tragic conditions brought about by the segregation - integration, controversy in the courts, the fact is that the Southern senators have come forward with a legitimate means of overcoming what they consider the ill effects of the 1954 "desegregation" decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The individual may discriminate but the state cannot. This means, under present conditions, two school systems or two sets of classes within the same school buildings or separate buildings.

OBVIOUSLY there are parents who do not mind seeing their children enrolled in "integrated" schools. Other parents want their children in segregated schools. A constitutional amendment that spells out the rights of parents and gives a discretionary right to the state legislatures or local school boards to set up a dual system is the only method that will assure "freedom of choice" for the parents.

The tuition - grant system offers another alternative but, in the absence of some new constitutional authority, this cannot mean any quasi - public - school system but a 100 per cent private system.

The school controversy is not likely to be over for decades to come. The experience with the 18th Amendment and its subsequent repeal by the adoption of the 21st Amendment is an example of how a basic issue of sociological reform is finally handled by the American people.

The question of whether drinking is morally right or wrong has not been settled yet by the provisions of the Constitution but the right of each locality to control liquor sales now has been affirmed as constitutional.

Precisely this kind of solution is inevitable in the school controversy and, while the Talmadge amendment has that broad aim, it needs to be specifically amended to transfer the power of choice to the citizens, who can then demand of the states the type of schools they want their children to attend.

A dual system is the only answer not only for the South but for many cities in the North where an increasing Negro population has merely served to introduce evasive schemes of residential gerrymandering to achieve something for which the Southern people, when they try it, are denounced as attempting a "lawless defiance" of the Constitution.

It would be easy enough, however, for the Supreme Court to rule

Gov. DiSalle Confers With Sect Leaders*Says Amish Ready For Jail To Back Up Their Beliefs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle conferred with three Amish leaders Friday about their school problem. DiSalle said one of the trio told him that Amish fathers "were ready to become martyrs and go to jail to support their beliefs."

The statement was made by Henry Hershberger, of Apple Creek, who acted as spokesman for the three, the governor said. The other two were Andy Weaver of Fredericksburg and Dan Ewawer of Millersburg.

The Amish, a religious sect, are heavily concentrated in the Wayne and Holmes County area where the three reside.

Their talk with the governor was closed to the press at their request. DiSalle later filled in newsmen on what was discussed.

He said the Amish told him that their only quarrel with the state is on the minimum standards of education of their own and "no interference with their doctrines or religion."

"They were very nice about it," DiSalle said. "They expressed their belief that they must pay taxes and said they believed in education and were perfectly willing for others to do what they want, but felt that they should have separate schools in accordance with their religious beliefs."

They said that when their 14 to 16-year-old children are thrown in with other school children, "That is when we lose them."

The Amish leaders presented the governor with a copy of what they called "their new standards of education."

DiSalle said the men "are certainly sincere in their position," but that their standards were "from the old copy book." The standards, he said, called for 160 days of schooling each year with five hours attendance the maximum daily requirement.

The governor said he promised the Amish delegation two things:

"First, I will ask the State Board of Education for its views on the problem, especially as to possible legislation for the Amish leaders said they might seek in the General Assembly.

"Second, I will ask for both formal and informal opinions of educators of all segments to consider if the interests of the public parallels the religious convictions of these people and to make certain there is no conflict."

One of the problems involved, DiSalle explained, is to find out what effect, if any, granting of special privileges to one group might have on the entire public educational system; and what, if any, exception can be or should be made.

Joan Davis Declares Her Marriage Is Off

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—That lover's quarrel between actress Joan Davis and Harvey Budd Stock was for real.

"Plans for our marriage definitely are off," snapped the 42-year-old comedienne.

She signed an assault and battery complaint against the 35-year-old real estate man, charging he used a judo punch on her. He was arrested and held on $250 bail for arraignment next Tuesday.

Stock denied hitting Miss Davis.

Both Pusey and the "Meter Maids" said it was the first case because juveniles do not break parking laws, but because they rarely have autos registered in their own names. The youth explained that he is employed, so he had the money to pay cash for an old auto and have the title issued in his name.

If he had been forced to make a loan for part of the car's cost, the note would have been signed by an adult, who would have had the auto title in his name.

The fact that the boy is under 18—and thus subject to Juvenile Court—was not learned until he was taken to City Hall. Police then turned the 17-year-old over to Juvenile Probation Officer Chris Pusey, who instructed him to settle the 7 old tickets at the usual rate of $2 each.

Work Stoppage Ends At Republic Steel Co. Plant

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A work stoppage which started with 350 workers and spread to the entire Republic Steel Corp. plant here has ended.

The company could not say when full operations will be resumed at the plant, which employs 6,000. The plant was shut down completely late Thursday.

Neither the company nor officials of Local 1375 would say what solution was reached in the dispute over use of an entrance—which touched off the walkout Tuesday—and in the subsequent firing of local president James Mulligan.

Mulligan was fired after the company accused him of instigating an unauthorized walkout by code department employees.

Mulligan denied this, and the union accused the company of a lockout.

Report Gas Fumes To City's Firemen, Director Requests

In one of his last official acts before leaving office today, Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti requested that any recurrence of gasoline fumes in the East End sewer system be reported to firemen to aid an investigation seeking to locate the source.

There has been no recent report of the fumes from householders, although the fumes were widespread in the East End area the weekend of Jan. 17, the director said.

"If the fumes recur, they should be reported to the firemen to aid in the investigation for the source," the director said. "There was an intensive investigation about two weeks ago, but the source never was found."

Firemen received reports of the fumes Jan. 17-18 from business places and residents on Pennsylvania Ave. near Mulberry St., the "Hill Rd." Kent St., Monaca St. and the Pennsylvania Ave. district near Dewey Ave. — six blocks from Mulberry St.

"If the fumes continue, it is definite evidence of an active leak," the director said today. He closed his desk for the last time at noon today. Joseph F. Ross will take over the duties Monday.

Salem Has Hot First Half In Rolling Over Potters, 72-45

Chester Falters In Second Half In 53-49 Loss To Mingo

Quakers Hit 54%; Hunter Scores 25

BY BOB DUFFY

Review Sports Editor

When a team shoots 54 per cent like Salem did, a semi-freeze, "lonesome guard" and about any other strategy you could try isn't going to do much good.

That was about the story of the Quakers' 72-45 victory over East Liverpool Friday night before a packed house at Memorial Auditorium.

The semi-freeze ordered by Coach John Karaffa did accomplish one thing, however. It held down the score and kept the high-scoring Quakers from reaching the 100-point mark.

Sixth-ranked Salem under Coach John Cabas rolled to its 10th straight victory and 13th in 14 games.

KARAFFA sent a much improved team on the floor Friday night. The ball handling was better and the team showed new spirit and some hustle.

But the Quakers were just too much for the Potters, whose losing string reached 10 in a row. The defeat was the 13th against one victory.

The stall which East Liverpool used at the outset of the second half proved successful and the Potters outscored Salem, 32-20 in the third and fourth quarters.

Salem had built up too much of a lead in the first half, however, with a 27-13 margin after the first quarter and a 52-23 count at halftime.

KARAFFA had one other trick up his sleeve Friday night, but it didn't do much good.

He made Kenny Cunningham a "lonesome guard" by placing him under the East Liverpool basket while the other four Potters backed up into a zone defense.

However, Cunningham failed to get a chance on any "bunny" shots and Karaffa pulled him from under the basket about midway through the first period.

The Quakers hit on 31 of 57 shots while the Potters improved on their shooting with 16 of 41 for 39 per cent.

Capitalizing on a fast break—which featured Dave Hunter, Woody Deitch and Dan Krichbaum, Salem jumped off to its early lead in the first half.

Hunter was the chief scorer for the Quakers last night. The 5-foot-10 guard pumped in 25 points, 21 coming in the first half.

He hit an amazing percentage with his southpaw jump shots.

Bears Falter In 2nd Half

LEETONIA — Louisville High School staged a second half rally to wipe out a seven-point deficit and whip Coach Len Batch's Leetonia Polar Bears, 56-46, here Friday night.

The defeat left Leetonia with an overall record of three wins and nine defeats. Leetonia is also one of the bottom teams in the Tri-County League standings after losing last night's loop contest.

Louisville trailed at halftime, 21-15, but operated a full court press in the ensuing two periods to vault into a 38-33 third quarter lead. Leetonia could not climb back into contention at any stage of the final period.

Louisville's brother scoring duo of Darryl and Dale Wartluft pumped in 20 and 13 points, respectively, to pace the attack of the winners. Lee Radler led Leetonia's scoring with 18 points. Chuck Lippiatt contributed 13 in the losing cause.

Louisville also won the reserve game, 42-36.

THIS LOOKS like a jump ball between Salem's Lou Slaby (with ball) and East Liverpool's Bigelow No. 40. Woody Deitch is shown standing by Slaby. No. 34 in background is Craig Burbick.

State-Ranked Eagles Lose Second Game

Salineville High's aroused Indians pulled one of the state's most smashing upsets of the 1958-59 cage season Friday night in rounding United Local's high-flying Golden Eagles—the state's seventh ranked Class A cage squad—by a 57-55 score before a packed house at the Salineville gymnasium.

Salineville, combating superior height, shooting power and all-around experience with only desire, exercised a full-court pressuring offense to bottle up the high-scoring Eagles and gain their fourth victory of the year as against 10 defeats.

The upset left United with a 11-2 record to carry into an important fray tonight at home against Fairfield-Waterford, which owns the only other triumph scored in an earlier upset.

A tight game the entire distance, Salineville eased to a 36-33 third quarter margin and pulled away to as much as five points near the end of the game.

The first quarter found the score deadlocked on four different occasions. After a 48-48 tie in the fourth period, the aroused Salineville outfit coached by Dick Jones was never headed for the remainder of the game.

Salineville actually triumphed over the rangy Eagles by ripping the nets from the foul line with a 70 per cent shooting average. United had a 22-18 edge in goals from the floor, but netted only 11 of 25 free throws. Salineville popped in 20 of 30 free throws.

United lost Blanchard and center Frank Shagnot, 6-4, in the fourth period on personal fouls which paved the way for the shorter Indians to gobble up the rebounds.

Shooting percentages from the floor were about even, with Salineville hitting 18 of 54 shots for 33 per cent and United posting 39 per cent on 22 goals of 54 tries. It was strictly a team victory for Salineville which had three starters post double figures. Rich Gearin, who also sparked floor action, tossed in 16 points to lead scoring, while Dick Kerr hit for 15 and Richard Giannone 13.

Labor-Management Unit Renewal Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's Labor-Management Committee goes out of business at midnight tonight, but a quick revival is expected early next week.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he would ask Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson to call up a renewal resolution on Monday.

McClellan indicated Friday he expected no difficulty in continuing committee work by recessing current hearings until Tuesday.
